

Purpose

To provide registered nurses with an update on selected topics relevant to the care of acutely and critically ill patients.

Target audience

Professional nurses who educate, manage and provide care to acutely and critically ill patients.

Successful completion

Participants must attend the entire program and complete an evaluation form to receive a certificate of completion and continuing education credits. Certificates of attendance will be awarded at the registration table at the end of the conference.

Educational objectives

Following this learning activity, participants will be able to:

- Explain ARDS pathophysiology and summarize updates in ARDS treatment
- Examine new interventional treatment options for high risk cardiac patients
- Describe indications for ECMO and the management of an ECMO patient
- Identify strategies to promote patient and family-centered care
- Explore emerging challenges in substance abuse
- Summarize infectious disease emergencies and the corresponding treatments in critical care
- Outline the plan of care for a drowning victim from ER to ICU
- Discuss strategies to promote resiliency in an ever-changing healthcare environment

Continuing education credits

This program is designated to meet the Minnesota Board of Nursing's requirements. It is the responsibility of each participant to determine if the program meets the criteria for licensure or recertification for their discipline.
